Correction: Last issue we had listed Monty Rogers as the student board member of the Association. Monty's term is actually over, and the new student board member is Molly Odell. Welcome aboard, Molly!

Do you know of any upcoming conferences, workshops, exhibits, funding opportunities, calls for papers, or other events that may be of interest to aaa members? Please submit news of upcoming events to sfcarraher@uaa.alaska.edu.

A Message from the President

Rachel Joan Dale, Association President

Hello all,

As we roll into an early winter, there's quite a lot going on. I have four pieces of business to attend to in this address:

First, we must apologize to Molly Odell. We did not recognize her in the previous issue as our new student board member. Sorry about that, Molly! And welcome aboard!

Second, it's that time-of-the-year when we need to call for nominees to replace the board members whose tenures are expiring. Jenya Anichenko and Robin Mills have served two terms and are no longer eligible for re-election. Thank you very much for your service to the Association.

In looking for replacements, let me remind you that all members of the Alaska Anthropological Association are eligible to serve as an association officer. If you would like to nominate a member for a board position or are interested in running for office, please submit a nomination form, which can be downloaded from the "About Us" section of the Association's website. It is not necessary to live in Anchorage to serve. Association officers can join meetings by teleconference.

Before submitting a nomination, please make sure that the proposed candidate would like to serve. Nominees must be members of the Association.

The Association accepts nominations for officer positions from September 1 through November 15 of each year. Mailed nomination forms must be post-marked by November 15, or they will not be considered. Candidates with the most nominations are added to the year's election slate for consideration by the membership. Ballots are distributed with the December newsletter and association members must return their votes by February 1. Election results will be announced at the 2014 annual meeting. Forms are on the website.

Third, we need to be able to keep up with changing e-mail addresses amongst our members. If you change your e-mail address, please notify Alaska Anthropological Association website administrator either by using the "contact us" function online or by sending an e-mail to alaskaanthro@gmail.com.

Members use their e-mail address as their log-in name, so it is important to keep that log-in current. If you have forgotten your password, we use your e-mail address to send you the password that is on file in the system.

And finally, what do to about all of our 40th Anniversary T-shirts? We have a large number of T-shirts from the 40th annual meeting. I think we should find homes for them as soon as possible.

If we can recoup some of the costs that would be great, but using them to advertise ourselves would be a good use. For example, advertising the organization by giving T-shirts to attendees of the October 19th Archaeology Day event; giving T-shirts to university students at the various campuses across the state; or to students in high school anthropology classes, etc.

Please e-mail suggestions on how to distribute these T-shirts in a way that benefit the Association (alaskaanthro@gmail.com).

Thank you, and let's all have a great and productive winter!

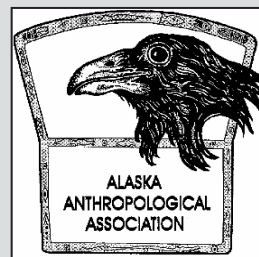

Joan

Happy Archaeology Day!!

ALASKA ANTHROPOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION BOARD

President

Rachel Joan Dale

Board Members

Jenya Anichtchenko

April Laktonen Counciller

Robin Mills

Molly Odell

Jeff Rasic

Secretary/Treasurer

Vivian Bowman

The purpose of the Alaska Anthropological Association is to serve as a vehicle for maintaining communication among people interested in all branches of anthropology; to promote public awareness and support for anthropological activities and goals; to foster knowledge, understanding, and appreciation of ALaska Native and circumpolar cultural heritage; to work in collaboration with Indigenous communities on all aspects of research and education; and to facilitate the dissemination of anthropological works in both technical and non-technical formats.

Membership is open to any individual or organization indicating interest and concern for the discipline of anthropology. The Association holds its annual meeting during March or April of each year and generally publishes four newsletters each year.

The membership cycle begins each year on January 1. Annual membership dues include a subscription to the Alaska Journal of Anthropology. Dues are $40.00 for student members and $75.00 for regular members. US dollar checks or money orders should be made out to the Alaska Anthropological Association. To join, send a membership form and payment to the Alaska Anthropological Association at P.O. Box 241686, Anchorage, Alaska 99524-1686, USA.

Please e-mail submissions to the editor, Sally Carraher, at sfcarraher@uaa.alaska.edu.

Out and About

Recent Happenings in Alaska Anthropology

Sally Carraher, Newsletter Editor

"Out and About" is an opportunity for our readers to hear the latest news, achievements, and other information about our colleagues and our discipline.

If you know of an Alaska or northern individual, institution, or group that deserves recognition for recent work; or a colleague who has recently won an award, scholarship, or grant; or has embarked on an exciting new career journey or field work experience; or who has achieved a professional or personal milestone in their lives (new job, new baby, marriage, etc.) please submit that information to our editor at sfcarraher@uaa.alaska.edu.

Well, a lot of Alaska anthropologists deserve some special attention in this issue. We have all been a very busy lot, it seems! First off, let us congratulate several people on recent achievements! A big pat on the back to those who recently graduated:

Bachelor's degrees:

Andrea Appa, University of Alaska Anchorage
Katie Anne Blood, University of Alaska Fairbanks
Jamie Marie Bourque, University of Alaska Fairbanks
Penny Bradley, University of Alaska Anchorage
Danielle Ellis, University of Alaska Anchorage
Erica Marie Harris, University of Alaska Fairbanks
Aaron Charles Kinn, University of Alaska Fairbanks
Alyse Lubenko, University of Alaska Anchorage
Angela Lynn, University of Alaska Fairbanks
Allie Sondra Pelto, University of Alaska Fairbanks

Master's degrees:

Jacob J. Anders, University of Alaska Anchorage
Tiffany Curtis, University of Alaska Anchorage
Richard Galloway, University of Alaska Anchorage
Rhea E. Hood, University of Alaska Anchorage
Allison Little, University of Alaska Fairbanks
Robyn J. Miller, University of Alaska Anchorage
Nicole Robarge, University of Alaska Fairbanks
William H. Schneider, University of Alaska Anchorage
Michael Wendt, University of Alaska Fairbanks
Oxana Yashchenko, University of Alaska Fairbanks

Doctoral degrees:

Sally Carraher, McMaster University, Canada
Andreas Droulias, University of Alaska Fairbanks
Ryan Harrod, University of Nevada Las Vegas
Holly McKinney, University of Alaska Fairbanks
Gilbert Qu, University of Alaska Fairbanks

Anchorage

Paul White received the Vogel Prize in August from the Society for Industrial Archeology for his paper "The Rise and Fall of the California Stamp: Historical and Archaeological Perspectives on the Aging of a Technology." This award is given for the best article to appear in their journal Industrial Archaeology in the past three years. It is an important recognition of Paul's research abilities by his peers in the field of Industrial and Historical Archaeology. Congratulations Paul!

Congratulations to Aleutian archaeologist and UAA adjunct professor Margan Grover for recently earning an Excellence in Teaching award!

The summer issue of the journal Ethnohistory is highlighting research from the north, with several colleagues from Alaska contributing their work. Stephen J. Langdon and Sergei Kan served as guest editors for this special issue on "Governmentality and Hybridity in Northwestern North America: From Russian Colonization to the Present". You can look forward to reading submissions from Steve and Alan Boraas – amongst many others – in this special issue of the journal. The latest (and greatest?) edition of Steve's foundational text Natives of Alaska was also released this summer.

UAA recently hired three new faculty. Welcome to UAA and Alaska: Ryan Harrod (biological anthropology); Sally Carraher (cultural and medical anthropology); and Clare Dannenberg (linguistic anthropology).

UAA Anthropology Alum Aaron Leggett is working as the special exhibits curator for the Anchorage Museum, where you can go from September 15 through January 12, 2014 to see the exhibit "Dena'inaq' Huch'ulyeshi – The Den'inaq Way of Living". This exhibit focuses on the last 150 years of cultural change for the Dena'ina Athabascans of south-central Alaska. One thing that makes this exhibit especially dynamic is Aaron's sharing of his own life experiences growing up Native in Anchorage, Alaska, and working to make Dena'ina history and culture more visible in modern-day Anchorage.

Fairbanks

UAF also recently added three new faculty to their ranks: Welcome to UAF and Alaska: Jamie Clark (paleo/zooarchaeology), Carrin Halfman (bioarchaeology/bioanthropology), and Robin Shoaps (linguistic anthropology).

Starting in October, the UA Museum of the North is partnering with the Fairbanks Children's Museum to provide special family-friendly games and exhibits featuring areas and topics of Northern history, art, and science. This collaborative project is called the "Museum without Walls" and will be going on until April 30, 2014, open seven days a week. This is a great way to get anthropology and archaeology out into the hands and imaginations of the public. If you're in Fairbanks and want to check it out, visit their website at <http://www.fairbankschildrensmuseum.com>.

Juneau

There's an exciting new exhibit at the Juneau-Douglas City Museum. From October through April 19, 2014, patrons can see the newest additions to the Dale DeArmond Collection of Alaska Native hats. DeArmond (1914-2006) was a celebrated artist who is best known for her book illustrations and woodblock prints. This exhibit features a set of 14 woodblock prints depicting traditional hats from numerous Alaska Native cultures.

Outside of Alaska

The Society for Applied Anthropology (SfAA) is searching for a new editor for their journal Human Organization, to begin in 2014. The editor-in-chief position is a three-year term. They are looking for someone with experience as a journal editor, or who has editorial board experience; a strong record of publication; and a history of involvement in applied/engaged social science. The deadline to apply for this position is December 31. For more information, visit <http://www.sfaa.net/news/hoeditorsearch.html>.

If you would like to place an advertisement in the aaa newsletter, please contact our secretary/treasurer Vivan Bowman at alaskaanthro@gmail.com.

Build Your Library

Amy Steffian, AJA Book Review Editor

All of my anthropologist friends love books. Their shelves are overflowing with volumes. They comb second hand bookstores and websites to find publications. They hang out at publishers' tables at conferences. They give books as gifts. They write books. If all of this sounds familiar, consider participating in the Alaska Journal of Anthropology's book review program.

We link knowledgeable scholars with newly published works to write short book reviews. It's simple. We provide a free copy of a volume in return for about 1,000 words summarizing its content and importance.

Our deadlines are flexible and most people take about two months to complete a review.

If you would like to help colleagues connect to new scholarship and building your library at the same time, please contact me.

Send me your name, contact information, and areas of expertise, and I will add you to a list of potential reviewers. If you are publishing a book and would like to arrange for a review, please ask your publisher to send the association a complimentary copy.

41st Annual Meeting of the Alaska Anthropological Association Fairbanks, Alaska March 5-8, 2014

ANTHROPOLOGY AND ART

"Anthropology and Art" – the theme of the 41st Annual Meeting of the Alaska Anthropological Association – is intentionally broad and is chosen to explore the multiple interconnections of anthropology and art. The theme may be applied to the past or the present, and to Native or Non-Native topics.

The 2014 meeting will be held at the Wedgewood Resort, 212 Wedgewood Drive, Fairbanks, Alaska 99701 (452-1442). Workshops will be held on Wednesday, March 5 and the conference will begin that evening with an opening reception at the Fountainhead Antique Auto Museum (located on the conference grounds).

In keeping with the theme, several artistic events are being planned for the conference, including a potential film session and a 1st Friday Art Event. In addition, the BP Ice Art Championships will be occurring during the week of the conference.

First Call for Sessions, Papers, Posters, Workshops

Presenters, as well as workshop and session organizers are encouraged to develop sessions, papers, posters, and workshops that incorporate the theme of the interface of anthropology and art; however, as always submissions that relate to any of the four fields of anthropology are welcome. In keeping with the conference theme, the use of a range of media is encouraged for all presentations.

The deadline for sessions, papers, posters, and workshops abstracts (100 words max) is January 1st, 2014.

Session submissions must include the following:

- 1) The names of the organizer or organizers;
- 2) Title of the proposed session;
- 3) An abstract of the session theme;
- 4) List of participants and titles of papers (in the preferred order in which the papers will be presented);
- 5) The names of session discussants (if applicable).

Workshop submissions must include the following:

- 1) The names of the organizer or organizers;
- 2) Title of the proposed workshop;
- 3) An abstract of the workshop theme;
- 4) The names of the panel discussants (if applicable).

Session organizers are responsible for providing a list of audiovisual needs to the meeting organizers, one month prior to the start of the conference.

Session, paper, poster, and workshop submissions should be emailed to:

Molly Proue (mmp@northernlanduse.com; 907-474-9684) and Josh Reuther (jreuther@alaska.edu; 907-474-6945). In addition, if you have any questions regarding the submission process, please contact Molly and Josh.

In Memory: Dr. Christy Gentry Turner II (1933-2013)

Richard Scott, Special submission

An ardent supporter and practitioner of Arctic anthropological research, Christy Gentry Turner II, passed away suddenly at his home in Tempe, Arizona on July 27, 2013. As a former student and longtime colleague and friend, it is with great sadness that I pen this obituary.

Christy was born in Columbia, Missouri on November 28, 1933. His parents were Christy G. Turner Sr. and Katherine Metz Turner. When fathers pass on their name to their sons, it usually goes with the title of junior. Going against this principle, his parents added II rather than junior. In retrospect, this distinction seems so appropriate because CGT II was a unique character.

The aaa would like to say "Bunga, bunga!" in memory of Dr. Christy G. Turner II. You are loved and missed. Photo courtesy of Richard Scott.

Christy received his BA and MA from the University of Arizona (1957, 1958). He was influenced by the late Bertram Kraus who stimulated Christy's interest researching dental traits and their underlying genetic basis. Turner then went to the University of Wisconsin Madison to pursue a PhD. The 1960s were heady days for Arctic studies at UW when William S. Laughlin, Catharine McClellan, and Chester Chard were on the faculty. Many Madison-trained anthropologists during that era made their way to Alaska (F.A. Milan, J.P. Cook, W.R. Powers, W.L. Workman, A.D. Shinkwin, and J.S. Aigner). His supervisor, Bill Laughlin, involved him in Arctic research in the Aleutians and Kodiak Island starting in 1962. Christy's dissertation, The Dentition of Arctic Peoples, was a groundbreaking study using dental morphology to assess population affinities on a regional scale. This served as the first step in his amassing a database on the dentitions of 30,000 skeletons in North and South America, Northeast and Southeast Asia, Australia, New Guinea, Melanesia, Polynesia, Europe, and Africa.

Christy was never content to describe things. He was driven to formulate and address anthropological problems. Insofar as the north goes, one of the biggest problems was the peopling of the New World via the Bering Land Bridge; scholars had long argued about source populations, timing, and the number of distinct migratory waves. In 1971, Christy used an extra root on the lower first molar to develop a three wave model for the peopling of the Americas. Subsequent observations on additional dental traits supported his original model where the ancestors of American Indians arrived first from northeast Asia, followed a few thousand years later by the ancestors of Athapaskans and Eskimo-Aleuts. In addition to Arctic research, Christy pioneered the systematic study of human cannibalism in the prehistoric American Southwest.

Christy was preceded in death by Jacqueline Adams Turner, his loving wife, companion, and collaborator for over 40 years. He is survived by their daughters Kali Ann, Kimi Lee, and Korri Dee, his grandchildren Kalen, Mason, Amethyst, and Courtney, sister Karen Snipes, and wife Olga Pavlova and her two daughters. He loved to attend meetings of the Alaska Anthropological Association whenever he had the chance.

In 2012, he was the first physical anthropologist to receive a career achievement award from the association. He left behind a great number of friends and colleagues in Alaska who share with me a deep sense of loss. In our e-mail exchanges, he would always end with the phrase 'bunga, bunga'. I'm not entirely sure what it meant but I am obliged to close with bunga, bunga CGTII, thanks for the memories; you will be sorely missed.

2014

Stay tuned for news about the upcoming Alaska Native Studies Conference to be held in March in Juneau, Alaska. Updates will be posted on the UAA Alaska Native Studies webpage at <http://www.uaa.alaska.edu/native/events.cfm>.

The 74th annual meeting of the Society for Applied Anthropology (SfAA) will be held March 18-22 at the Hotel Albuquerque in Old Town, Albuquerque, New Mexico. This year's theme is "Destination: (1) the place to which one is going or directed; (2) the ultimate purpose for which something is created or intended." A theme devoted to destinations informs all our work in anthropology and in the associated applied social sciences and humanities." Deadline to submit abstracts is October 15. The SfAA provides some funding for student travel and student awards. For more information, visit the meeting web site at <http://www.sfaa.net/sfaa2014.html>.

The 79th annual meeting of the Society for American Archaeology will be held April 23-27 in Austin, Texas. Deadline to submit abstracts was September 12, but you can still register to attend the conference. For more information, visit www.saa.org.

The National Preservation Institute is hosting a meeting called "Cultural and Natural Resource Project Consultation: Conflict Resolution and Prevention" from May 6-8 in Anchorage, Alaska. For more information, call Jere Gibber at 703-765-0100, or e-mail info@npi.org.

The 8th International Congress on the Arctic Social Sciences (ICASS) will be held May 22-26 at the University of British Columbia in Prince George, BC, Canada. They will issue a call for papers and a list of proposed sessions by October 22. Please check their web site at <http://resweb.res.unbc.ca/icass2014/index.htm> for the latest updates about registration, accommodation, and abstract submissions. ## Recent Publications

Richard Stern, Association member

The purpose of this column is to bring recent publications in the field of Alaska anthropology to the attention of Newsletter readers. Alaska anthropology is defined broadly to include the traditional four-field approach of anthropology subject matter. The Alaska region is similarly broadly defined to include Alaska, neighboring Canada, the Northwest Coast, Siberia, and more generally, the circumpolar North. Publications include published books, journal articles, web pages, unpublished reports ("grey literature"), or other information which may be of interest. Readers are urged to share publications which come to their attention with this column.
